PRIMARY REFERENCE PRINCIPLE

The Brand Presenter is represented as a believable real-world human.
Identity remains invariant while presentation context may vary.
Clothing, microphone, setting and pose shown here are visual context unless separately canonicalized.

AUTHORITY BOUNDARY

CAB = canonical identity and specification. CRS = visual representation and rendering.

FACIAL IDENTITY • CLEAN VIEWS

IDENTITY INVARIANCE

These are clean photographic views of the same canonical Brand Presenter. They are visual references of one identity, not alternative character variants.

AUTHORITY BOUNDARY

Visual geometry reference only.
Numerical measurements and tolerances remain authoritative in CWC-CAB-AS-002 / CFMS-AS-002.
The CRS does not create a new geometry specification.

REFERENCE NOTE

This sheet visualizes the four locked biological identity properties defined by CWC-CAB-AS-002. The photographic source is clean and free of branding overlays and document annotations. Styling, pose, environment and camera treatment remain presentation variables unless separately canonicalized.

NOT APPROVED AS THE CANONICAL RENDERING TARGET

RENDERING PRINCIPLE

Identity remains invariant. Rendering is photorealistic.
Environment, pose, camera and lighting may adapt while preserving photorealistic human integrity.

REFERENCE NOTE

These examples intentionally show non-canonical representations. They are not alternative Brand Presenter variants. Canonical identity remains governed by CWC-CAB-AS-002; photorealistic rendering authority remains CWC-CRS-AS-002.
